Sail the Seven C's with Humor!

Karyn Buxman, RN, MS

It's sure to be smooth sailing for those who know how to sail the seven C's: change, conflict, cynicism, congress, cutbacks, chaos, and crises. Don't be a castaway — chart your own course — using humor to keep you afloat!

8:30 - 9:00 pm

A special presentation for our group from a cruise line entertainment director. Definitely not to be missed.

Friday October 3, 1997

8:00 - 9:15 am

Humor and Customer Service

Larry Winget

Can you deal with this bad situation by using humor? Is there a way to keep your perspective by using humor? Sure there is! This session will teach you the primary principles of dealing with customers and show you effective uses of humor when dealing with them and yourself.

9:15 - 9:30 am- Break

9:30 - 10:30 am

Stress: The Role of Humor - Part I

Christian Hageseth III, MD

This presentation, both funny and informative, will introduce the concepts of positive and negative humor. How humor functions as a mature psychological response to stress will provide scientific validity to the idea that humor is good medicine. (Continued on Saturday, 8:00 am)

10:30 - 10:45 am - Break

10:45 am - 12:00 pm

For Longevity: Inject Levity PRN (Please Right Now)

Denise E. Williams, OTR/L

Yikes! I'm sad! Phooey! I'm upset! Aha! Let me reach into my medicine cabinet for some mirth and motivation. Oh good, there's the bottle of buoyancy, the capsules for comic relief, and the elixir for enthusiasm. Whew! I'm better!

Saturday October 4, 1996

8:00 - 9:15 am

Humor and Creativity: Why Didn't I Think of That?

Karyn Buxman, MS, RN

Is your brain overflowing with creative thoughts, dribbling a few good ideas, or all dried up? How can you tap those creative juices? Come to this fun-filled interactive session that's sure to get those creative juices rolling.

9:15 - 9:30 am

Break

9:30 - 10:30 am

Stress: The Role of Humor - Part II

Christian Hageseth III, MD

Continuation of Saturday morning's program.

10:30 - 10:45 am - Break

10:45 am - 12:00 pm

I'm In Charge Here, Why is Everybody Laughing?

Bob Ross

In this session you will learn the different ways humor can aid in communication with others and understand how to change confrontation into cooperation. You will also be able to appreciate humor's role as a social lubricant and key to longevity.

7:30 - 8:30 pm

Stuff That Works Every Single Day: The Principles of Personal and Professional Success

Larry Winget

Learn how to have more fun and be more successful! With this session you will be taught the 17 principles of personal and professional success and be able to identify situations where these principles will help you.

Faculty

Karyn Buxman, MS, RN

As the "Humble Empress of Humor", Karyn is one of the leading national experts on therapeutic humor. She presents to thousands of business and health professionals, nationally and abroad, on how to put humor into their personal and professional lives.

Christian Hageseth, III, MD

Above average professional speaker, generic psychiatrist, and not-too-bad of a writer, Dr. Hageseth comes from sober Norwegian stock. He is committed to insuring his audiences never become comatose or develop addictions to dead surgeon jokes.

Bob Ross

Bob is the author of Laugh, Lead & Profit: Building Productive Workplaces with Humor. He is a professional speaker and humorist who conducts programs throughout the US and Canada. His message is about using humor as a strategy for success.

Denise Williams, OTR/L

Graduating from class clown to adult humorist, Ms. Williams is a firm believer in the need for daily guffaws. By changing how we think, we can change how we feel. Remember, up or down - the choice is ours to make.

Larry Winget

Larry has done it all, from driving a bookmobile and shovelling manure to serving as president of a major company. He is proof that you can go belly-up in business without going face-down in failure. Larry brings with him a unique perspective on the principles necessary to survive and succeed both personally and professionally.
